Letter From U.S. Ambassador to Albania

Dear AmCham Members:

I am pleased and honored to continue the tradition for U.S. Ambassadors to address the members of the American Chamber of Commerce in Albania on the occasion of the publication of the yearbook.

It has been my privilege to work closely with the Chamber for more than three years and to witness its tireless work and commitment to improve the business climate in Albania for the benefit of the entire business community and the country.

Thanks to its persistence and resilience during good and bad times, the AmCham today has grown into a highly effective business association, offering its members a wide variety of services and advocating for its interests. Throughout recent years, we have seen the Chamber active in nourishing and building bridges of communication and dialogue with the Government and influencing legislation and economic policy for the benefit of the entire business community. Today, we are proud to see that through its contribution, the AmCham has become an important voice not only for its members but, for the entire country.

A Chamber is only as successful as its members make it, through their active membership and participation. I want to encourage each of you to continue contributing and supporting your Chamber. The U.S. Embassy is proud to be a partner with the American Chamber of Commerce in Albania, and we look forward to continuing this fruitful cooperation.

I wish the Chamber and all of you continued success in your businesses endeavors.

Sincerely,
Alexander A. Arvizu

Letter From Minister of Economic Development Trade and Entrepreneurship

Dear reader,

In the framework of fulfilling the objectives of the government programme for its 4-year mandate, The Ministry of Economic Development, Trade and Entrepreneurship gives priority to the development of the economy with a focus on economic growth, the stabilization of public finances and attracting foreign and domestic investments, and above all, improving a business climate that was at historical lows before the new government took power.

Taking into account this history over the past few years, the Ministry of Economic Development, Trade and Entrepreneurship has conducted a thorough analysis of the business climate and potential opportunities that the economy offers. As such, the potential for sustainable growth and further development, demands a transparent relationship and mutual trust with the business community in Albania.

Bilateral cooperation, addressing requests, complaints, concerns and the process of evaluating the challenges for sustainable development, constructive debate and the exchange of opinions with entrepreneurs constitute very efficient tools towards creating an effective and productive instrument that will lead all stakeholders, business and government, towards a successful relationship.

Under this framework, I consider the role of AmCham as irreplaceable, and its concrete actions in fostering this dialogue and partnership, in bringing together the public and private into a transparent identification of the needs and requests from enterprises, and above all, its constructive role in lobbying for better option, as good means to finding optimal solutions for our common challenges.

In addition to being a serious representative of the business community it represents, AmCham is also a very important actor in the Albanian economy that helps set up dialogue platforms between public and private entities, bringing politicians, academics, business representatives, consumers, financial institutions, foreign investors and all partners present in the Albanian economy to discuss about real issues and real impact.

I would like to once again avail myself of this opportunity to express special thanks to AmCham for its proactive role, for the quality and tangible effects to the economy, and I guarantee that the Albanian government will always be ready, open and willing to foster this cooperation and to expand all possible opportunities of the contribution by AmCham in Albania.

Sincerely,
Arben Ahmetaj

Letter From President of AmCham

Dear AmCham Members and Friends,

It is with great pleasure that the American Chamber of Commerce celebrates its fourteenth year of serving its members in Albania. I am pleased to share with you the good results that we have achieved in 2013 thanks to the dedication of our Board and Committees, as well as the hard work of AmCham Executive Director Floreta Luli-Faber and rest of the staff. I would especially like to acknowledge the invaluable support of Ambassador Arvizu, Deputy Chief of Mission, Henry Jardine, Political and Economic Section Chief, John Cockrell, and Economic Officer, Don Brown, as well as the US Embassy staff.

My term began with the organization of the Chamber's first Economic Forum, which brought together representatives of the two main political perspectives to discuss their economic policy proposals for a four-year mandate in government. AmCham was very pleased to be a facilitator of real ideas, affecting tax, economic and investment policy, and looks forward to continuing such an event in future.

In order to frame our dialogue with the candidates for Government, the American Chamber of Commerce drafted a business agenda, outlining five key points. These points were presented, post-election, to both the incoming Government as well as the major opposition leadership. As a follow-up to our business agenda Chamber representatives met with Socialist Party leader, Prime Minister Edi Rama, Democratic Party Chairman, Mayor Lulzim Basha, and Socialist Movement for Integration Chairman, Speaker Ilir Meta, as well as many Ministers and members of Parliament from across the political spectrum. The Chamber would like to specifically thank both Director Spiropali and Director Shehaj for their participation in forums centered on tax and customs issues. The Chamber was also very pleased to be invited by Prime Minister Rama, together with the Minister of Economy, Arben Ahmetaj, to take part in the National Economic Council. The Chamber values very much its role within the Council and looks forward to continued active participation. The Chamber has had an open discourse with its members and the Government throughout 2013 and would like to thank all the members of Albania's political system for the openness in which they have received Chamber representatives and collaborated with the Chamber.

Often it is easier to attract investment from the region than from far away. Within that perspective, one of the new initiatives that the Chamber sponsored this year was a Tirana roundtable with our sister Chambers from Kosovo, Macedonia and Montenegro. The roundtable looks forward to future participation from other AmChams in the region as well, seeking to better support cross-border trade and commerce between our respective nations.

Today, the American Chamber of Commerce represents the largest foreign chamber in Albania, boasting 220 active members from across the country.

I'm pleased to have served this Chamber during this 2013 fiscal year and work with our friends and partners in business in Albania. Together we are raising difficult, sometimes controversial, issues to the surface for debate and discussion in an attempt to increase transparency, stability, and progress. We are getting results as we move Albania forward and I look forward to continuing this progress in 2014.

Sincerely,
Mark Crawford

Floreta LULI-FABER
Executive Director
AmCham Albania

As of December 31st, 2013

Letter From Executive Director of AmCham

Dear AmCham Members,

For 14 years now, I address members at this interesting time of the year for the American Chamber of Commerce in Albania. The General Assembly Meeting is a moment of reflection to sum up a year just passed, a dedicated work of all the parties involved with AmCham for an entire year. This is when we look to see how we have grown in number, how we have worked and what we have achieved. It is also a decisive moment, when members select those who will manage and lead the organization in the future.

Year 2013 we have left behind, had several key moments for AmCham activities. The Chamber organized several events, discussions and roundtables, designed to bring in updated information on legal changes and economic policies, as well as to inform members on economic policies -- all while helping to increase the networking opportunities and to help your business grow.

Lobbying is at the center of our activities, serving to convey your concerns to the relevant institutions and to work with groups of experts to resolve these concerns. Concerns affecting specific sectors and industries have been spelled out in the documents that we have submitted to the highest levels of government and which we followed up on a regular basis.

The CEO's Forum has been a valuable lobbying service during the past year. I am grateful to presidential members that have been active with the Forum and brought with them ideas and thoughts about what we must do as the American Chamber to offer concrete and better support for businesses.

Permanent committees and the work they do have had a large impact in the efforts of AmCham. There are four active committees that deal with issues like taxes and customs, intellectual property rights (IPR), important aspects of the labor market and vocational training as well as issues concerning women that are active in business. These are also the four central pillars of the work AmCham does. Focusing on its own area of expertise, allows each committee to address every issue that businesses face in Albania today. Thanks to the work of these committees, we address in a well-organized way, the exact issues that need to be discussed.

Over the past year, AmCham has also improved the research on the business climate in Albania and its parameters. We have received information on how members assess the business climate in the country -- including the level of corruption in institutions, infrastructure and services. The information was published in the ABI (the AmCham Business Index) Report, which we are committed to publish every year. AmCham would provide solid information to the government, public and international organizations through an assessment of the business climate that AmCham updates annually.

I hope that the climate of confidence and the support that members have with the organization, will accompany AmCham during 2014, to further work together in conducting activities in support to a better climate of doing business in Albania. The AmCham Board, the very professional staff, the support from the colleagues of the U.S. Embassy, a closed cooperation with the Albanian government and all political forces that are present in the Albanian Parliament and a close cooperation with the AmCham-s in Europe and the U.S. Chamber in Washington -- they are the key to the success of AmCham. I thank all of them and hope to keep their interest up, in every future cooperation with AmCham Albania.

*Sincerely,
Floreta Luli-Faber*

AmCham Lobbying	23
AmCham Committees	24

AmCham Lobbying

AmCham's lobbying process is one of its strongest points. Through the years, the Chamber has perfected the process and lobbying has been harmonized among the Chamber's structures and strategies, used to pursue its lobbying objectives.

AmCham bases its activity on a Business Agenda, which in essence also spells out the main issues on which the Chamber lobbies. Working structures within AmCham, such as committees and the Board of Directors, also align their work toward accomplishing these objectives

Over the past year, AmCham has been focused on addressing with relevant institutions the main issues the concern its member businesses. In order to have a more efficient communication, the Chamber has organized meetings with experts, holding roundtables to discuss issues and concerns the members have, present the Chamber's arguments and offer concrete ideas for solutions.

Over the years, there have been periodic meetings with the officials that lead institutions that handle taxes and customs as well as with representatives of the Ministries of Finance and Economy. These have served to have ongoing business-government discussions, to address in a professional way issues businesses face. During 2013 in particular, the Chamber held meetings at the highest levels of government, starting from the prime minister in office at the time, and continuing with ministers that handle business issues and leaders of institutions that deal with finances and fiscal policies. The meetings served to address problems businesses encounter, especially in the areas of taxes and customs.

The Chamber's White Paper spelled out the main issues discussed and was presented to the Minister of Finance and the heads of the customs and tax administration. In turn, the Chamber received answers in writing for a large part of these concerns.

AmCham also has participated at the National Economic Council and Tax Council. The Chamber urged the government to consult businesses on the draft of the Fiscal Package, stressing the importance of giving the business community the necessary time to familiarize itself with the package before the government started its application. AmCham's participation in the National Economic Council serves above all in the lobbying process that the Chamber undertakes on behalf of its members' interests and in order to work on improving the business climate in Albania and creating balanced institutional relations with the government.

AmCham Committees

The American Chamber of Commerce in Albania has five active committees as part of its organizational structure. Each of them has its own specialty and discussion topics, and it consists of the Committee Chairperson and the Permanent Working Group.

CEOs Forum

Chaired by Mark Crawford of Aksioner International Securities Brokerage

AmCham's CEOs Forum consists of top executives of AmCham's presidential member companies. It aims to get their thoughts on all lobbying matters AmCham is pursuing.

The forum engages in all important meetings with senior representatives from the government and international organizations, as part of the Chamber's institutional and public commitment. It also aims to ensure the smooth running of the Chamber's policies.

Tax and Legal Committee

Chaired by Ardjana Shehi of Kalo & Associates

AmCham's Tax and Legal Committee handles legal issues that are important and have a direct impact on the business activities of AmCham members. The committee monitors and analyzes important changes and developments in the tax and customs legislation. Through meetings and discussions with members as well as meetings with senior representatives of state institutions, the committee seeks to inform members of changes in legislation, mainly in the tax and tax-filing areas, offering potential solutions for business problems.

During the past year, the committee's largest focus has been on bringing forward comments of members for draft laws discussed by the government and parliament, as well as to support the work of experts to reflect the comments made by AmCham's members. The permanent working group of the Tax and Legal Committee drafted the White Paper handed to the Minister of Finance, the General Director of Customs and the General Director of Taxation. The White Paper contained the key issues that concern the Chamber's member businesses in relation to the work of these institutions.

Human Resources Committee

Chaired by Dritan Mezini of DM Consulting

The Human Resources Committee serves to members and representatives of their human resource departments through the exchange of experiences, workshops, forums and conferences, on topics focused on management and human resources development.

The HR Committee aims to inform all AmCham members of the legal changes related to the labor code legislation, to lobby for specific interests that affect a group of members, to train members on specific HR topics and to create networking opportunities based on the exchange of experiences and discussion of issues facing the sector. The committee has organized several events during the past year, including annual Job Fair and HR Week, which focused on four HR topics on which members expressed most interest.

Intellectual Property Rights Committee

Chaired by Arsen Kurti of Microsoft Albania

The Intellectual Property Rights Committee is composed of IPR experts that are representatives of several AmCham member companies. It was created with the purpose of dealing with problems members face on issues such as copyright, patents, forgery, piracy, etc. Through cooperation of members, the committee has charted strategies on improving intellectual property rights in Albania. It also helps implement these strategies through suggestions it makes to government structures.

The committee works and lobbies for increasing awareness of the importance of IPR and dealing with issues of concern through meetings with members and stakeholders as well through organizing IPR conferences.

During the past year, the IPR Committee has organized several roundtables with representatives of institutions that cover IPR issues.

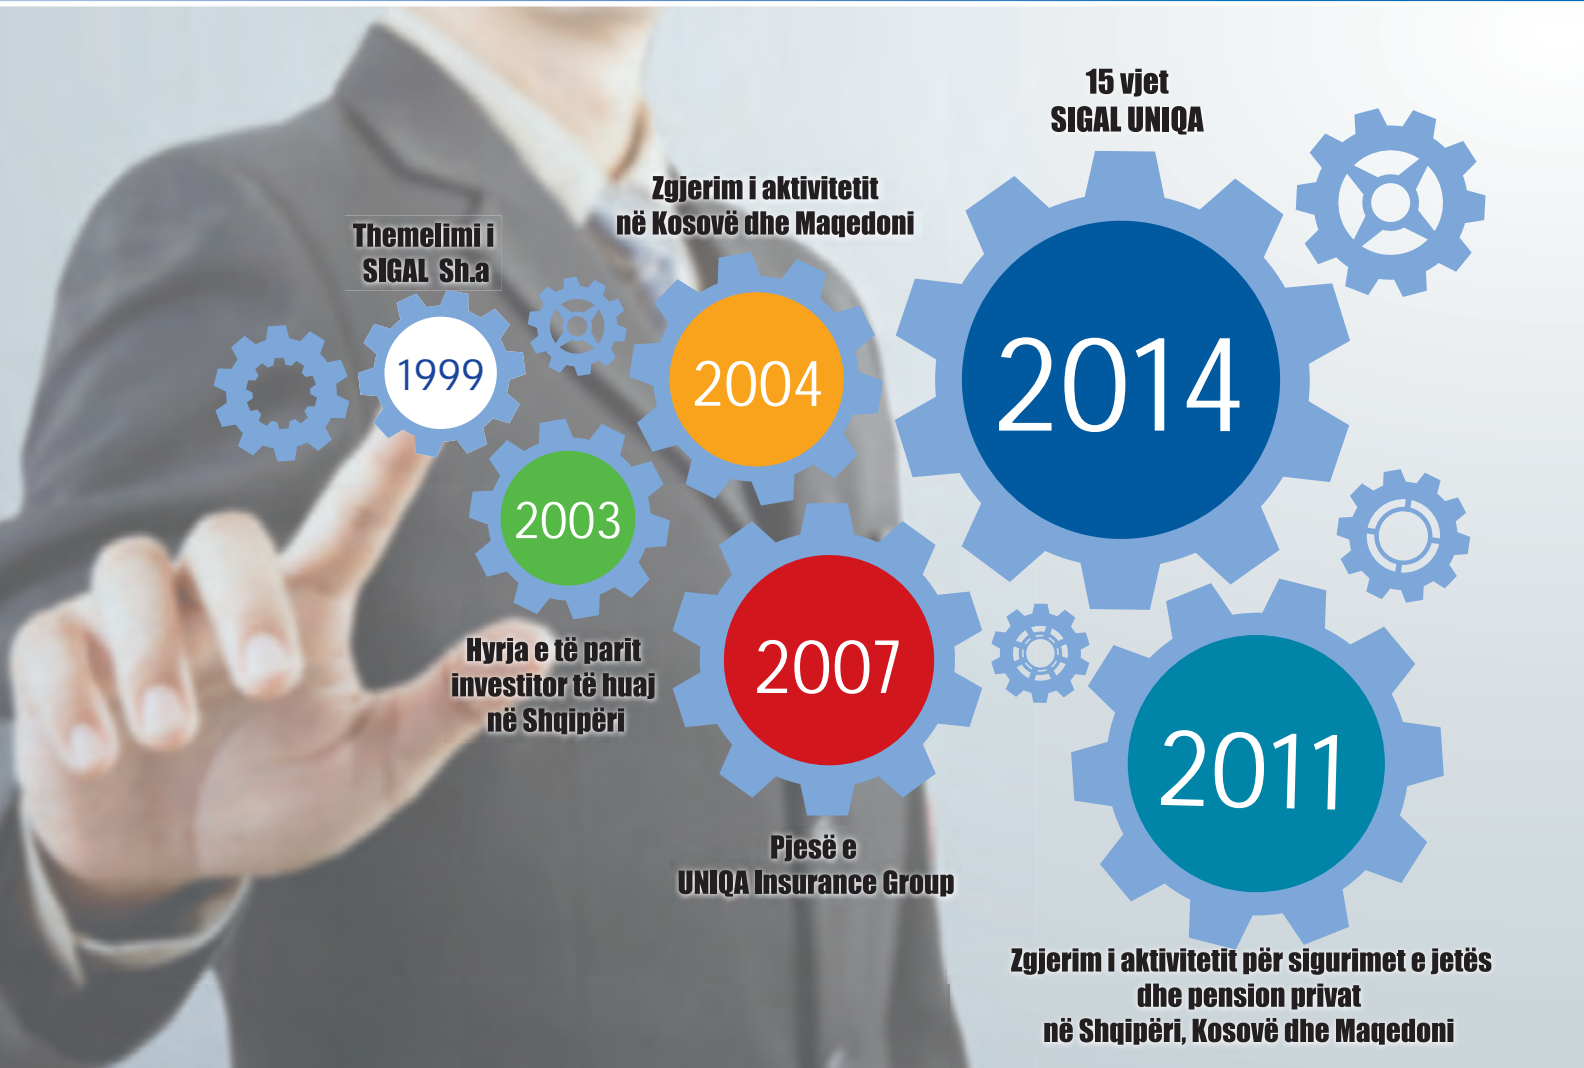

Women of Business Active Committee Chaired by Flutra Veipi of ProCredit Bank

AmCham's Women of Business Active Committee is a networking platform for women who are actively engaged in running AmCham member businesses. The committee has focused its activity on the development of networking, lobbying and exchanging of experiences, that lead to more empowerment for women in business. It also aims to help women become more active in leadership roles in other spheres of society.

The committee works to reach its goals through workshops, handling sensitive issues for women in business, and they present their concerns and seek cooperation with high state officials. The committee members are also engaged in enhancing and strengthening the role of women in society, including cooperation with international organizations that share that same goal.

AmCham Business Agenda 2013 - 2017	30

The Economic Forum

The 2013-2017 Economic Prospects Forum, which was organized by the American Chamber of Commerce and Monitor magazine with the support of the U.S. Embassy in Tirana, brought together the two economic platforms proposed by two main electoral coalitions led by the Democratic Party and the Socialist Party.

The purpose of the conference was to bring in representatives of the two largest political forces to speak about their plans to resolve fundamental problems faced by the Albanian economy and which plague local businesses as well as inhibit the attraction foreign investments. All these concerns were addressed in questions for the two representatives, Florion Mima of the Democrats and Socialist leader Edi Rama, in two separate sessions, one after another, for about 45 minutes each.

Both representatives brought their points of view on top business concerns such as fiscal policy, tax rates, VAT refunds, registration of property, social security and cooperation with Kosovo.

The conference also had a third panel with the participation of Deputy U.S. Ambassador Henry Jardine, AmCham President Mark Crawford and Monitor Publisher Edmond Leka.

The conference was an achievement in itself due to the fact that the two major parties had finally agreed to present in front of the business community in a joint conference and speak clearly about their plans for the country's economic future.

AmCham Business Index

The American Chamber of Commerce in Albania conducted in February - March 2013 a first survey that set the basis for the annual AmCham Business Index, which serves to measure member opinions on the most important elements of the business climate, including government policies, tax levels, corruption, informality, law enforcement and elements linked to the performance of businesses and the Albanian economy in general. Publishing the annual AmCham Business Index in the years to come will enable the chamber to monitor results and allow for better planning based on comparing data from different years to see how things have changed year to year.

The Index stemmed from an initiative of the AmCham Board of Directors to have a way to measure economic performance and the business climate in the country, through the views of AmCham members. Given the fact that one of AmCham's fundamental goals is to increase American investment in Albania, the Chamber's members are the best source of information on what it is like to operate a business in Albania.

The survey's questionnaire focuses on several key points that measure the pulse of the country's economic performance.

The overall assessment of the business climate -- including the level of corruption, government bureaucracy, informality, service infrastructure, IPR protections, etc. -- constitutes the core of the AmCham Business Index. The survey also asked AmCham members about government policies and relations with state institutions, as well as about the performance of their businesses and the financial climate. The information they provided helped paint a clearer picture about how they perceive operating in the Albanian macroeconomic environment, what they expect from it and what key problems remain.

The need to draft the AmCham Business Agenda came as necessity of having all the issues on which AmCham lobbies spelled out in the same place for each of the main sectors of the economy. In 2010, AmCham announced its first Business Agenda, summarizing important issues affecting business activity and for which AmCham members sought solutions, as well as explaining the climate of doing business in Albania. In the years that followed, the Business Agenda was structured to include all key issues on which AmCham works, providing a clearer focus for its activity.

This Business Agenda of 2013-2017 lists fundamental issues that the business community would like the new Government to address to create a positive climate for investment, business development and employment. The Chamber looks forward to engaging with the Government on these issues during its term and on assisting Albania's integration into the European Union and the broader Euro-Atlantic community.

POLICY GOALS

ISSUE 1: AmCham is ready and expects to participate in constructive dialogue, including but not limited to, consultation on all legislation affecting the business community. In order to efficiently participate in change, the Chamber proposes that a period of 60 days be allocated for public debate on new or revised regulations, decrees, or other proposed changes to government policy. Publication of decisions should be made in advance of their enactment.

ISSUE 2: AmCham supports a revised format of the Business Consultative Council (BCC). The suggested 60-day period for consultation will also allow the BCC to gather comments from the business community, and to have those comments presented to the Council of Ministers, as legal practice.

ISSUE 3: AmCham wishes to engage actively the Government to promote greater transparency in its fiscal planning and budgeting. As new tax policy is formulated, the Chamber is eager to engage in its development and implementation, including improvement of VAT reimbursements and the equitable application of tax audits and collections.

ISSUE 4: AmCham encourages the implementation of the Administrative Court system. Special emphasis should be made to ensure that the court system applies fair practices and timely procedures, and that it becomes a reliable process to increase business confidence and to attract greater international and local investment in Albania.

ISSUE 5: AmCham anticipates close interaction with the Government as it develops policies to reduce the informal sector and to increase transparency in the application of fiscal laws and procedures, which are fundamental to sustained business growth.

Financial Report 2013	34
AmCham Sponsors of Activities and Publications	36
AmCham Sponsors in Kind	37

Financial Report 2013

The American Chamber of Commerce in Albania is a private business organization, serving its members and the business community in Albania. AmCham incomes come from membership, services offered to members, sponsorship contributed from other local or international organizations, as approved by the Board. According to the AmCham by-laws, AmCham does not accept funds from the government of any country or political organizations.

The AmCham's expenses include the administrative costs incurred for running the organization, the costs for organizing and running activities like working breakfasts and working luncheons, business forums, networking activities, job fairs as well as the costs for producing its publications.

During 2013, the main focus financially was that by the end of the year the level of the cash the organization has is higher than the beginning of the year. The financial situation is presented to and approved from the AmCham Board in every meeting through the year 2013. AmCham still presents its accounts in the cash bases.

AmCham worked hard in order to meet its objectives. The financial projections were not easy to meet. The organization focuses only on members and services and it needs a dedicated work to "translate" this work in sustainable financial income. In order to continue the enhancement of standards with AmCham, the good work has to keep going, the number of members has to remain and the participation in projects was taken in consideration. The AmCham income-expenses 2011-2013 report is presented in the Table on the next page

As every year, the largest portion of the AmCham annual income comes from membership fees. During 2013, the incomes from membership are 55.85 percent of the total income, which is lower compared with 61.43 per cent of this indicator in 2012 and 59.31 percent of this indicator in 2011. But in fact, it should be noted that the income from this category have increased from 1.26 million Leke or by 10 percent compared with a year ago.

A considerable part of AmCham income comes from members' sponsorships as well as the incomes from the paid up activities, which has been presented in the category, income from services. In 2013, this category represents 32.07 percent of the total revenues of the Chamber or 10 percent higher than the previous year, while costs for services are 23.37 percent of total expenses.

This year, AmCham has realized a part of income from projects. During 2013, income from projects makes up 8.81 percent of total income, while the expenses for projects consist of 3.29 percent of total expenditures.

Another category is that of the income from publications. During 2013, the incomes from this category were 2.20 percent of total revenues, a slightly higher figure compared with 1.15 percent of this indicator in 2012 and 1.22 percent of this indicator in 2010. The income from advertisements at 'The Advantage' magazine has also decreased. An analysis shows that, only a small part of the cost of the magazine is covered by the income from advertisements, whereas the remaining is supported by AmCham funds. While the total decrease of the expenses for the magazine has come because of a decrease of the number of issues presented during the year.

During 2013, AmCham spent 99 percent of the money earned during the year, in a turnover of 25.26 million of Leke.

The expenses for personnel and permanent staff in 2013 are at the level of 32 percent of total expenses compared with 38 percent of this indicator in 2012 and 2011.

During 2013, the figures show a decrease of expenses of the category administration compared with two previous years. In 2013 the administration costs to total cost are 28.65 percent, which shows a decrease from 29.78 percent of the level of the same indicator in 2012 and 32.04 percent in 2011.

The same as with the income, the expenses for publications are considered separately from the expenses for services and are analyzed above, together with the income from the respective categories. This expenses category made 7.9 percent of total annual expenses in 2013, compared with 7.6 percent of the annual expenses in 2012 and to 7.8 percent of this indicator in 2011.

Sponsorship

The American Chamber of Commerce thanks all sponsors and supporters of its activities during 2013, and hopes that the advertising received through AmCham sponsorships affected the companies that tried to promote their business in Albania.

As it has been the case in previous years, also in 2013, members of the American Chamber of Commerce have expressed interest in promoting their businesses in Albania through sponsoring the various AmCham organized activities. American Chamber of Commerce provides a very good marketing tool for the promotion of the name of the companies that sponsor the activities.

The 4th of July Celebration on the occasion of the United States Independence Day, the End of the Year Party, the Economic Perspective Conference, the AmCham's Regional Conference, The General Assembly Meeting have been some of the main activities made possible with the generous support of some AmCham's members companies.

Another great tradition at AmCham is the in-kind support from members to different events where we can mention 4th of July celebration and the End of Year Party.

Dream bigger - Learn better - Shine brighter

Dear Parents,
Our preschool center uses a program called the "Core Knowledge Preschool Program."

This program for three- to five-year-olds is specifically designed to provide your child with the solid foundation he or she will need for later learning in kindergarten and beyond. The Core Knowledge Preschool Program is based on scientific research about how young children learn, as well as research into the best preschool practices around the world. We are excited to offer this outstanding program to our children. This brochure will provide you with additional information about Core Knowledge. We look forward to talking to you more about the preschool program.

Your child's future begins here at the Albanian International School! Give them a world class education taught by qualified, native English speaking teachers.

At AIS we teach students how to think for the future!

— Your Preschool Staff
