Letter from the U.S. Ambassador to the Republic of Albania, Yuri Kim

Dear American Chamber of Commerce Members

Thirty years ago, Albania threw off the shackles of dictatorship and communism and renewed diplomatic relations with the United States. Since then, Americans and Albanians have built the unshakable partnership we have today. The work of the American Chamber of Commerce in Albania has directly contributed to our successes. Alongside contributions from political leaders, businessmen and women have worked hard to connect our economies and citizens. Today, we have the opportunity to significantly enhance U.S.-Albania cooperation in democracy, defense, and business. Our cooperation on democracy – including rule of law – and defense are well known. The U.S. Embassy is proud that we are also now seeing real movement on the business front. Last October, the United States and Albania signed an historic Memorandum of Economic Cooperation. That agreement immediately facilitated a pair of energy projects that would be a game-changer not only in Albania but in the region. We are hopeful that this will be the first of many more opportunities for U.S. business in and with Albania. We look forward to supporting the efforts of the Albanian government to improve the business climate, including by moving forward with justice reform and resolving property rights. Clean courts and clear, transparent rules will surely attract greater trade and investment. We thank AmCham and its members for doing their part to deepen connections between our countries through trade and investment between the United States and Albania.

*Sincerely,
Ambassador*

Yuri Kim

Letter from the Minister of Finance and Economy, Delina Ibrahimaj

Dear AmCham Members

It is my pleasure to greet you and continue the already established professional partnership with such prestigious institution!

I want to express my gratitude for AmCham's long outstanding contribution in improving the general business climate of the country, while at the same time share with you the positive developments related to the economy. We believe that a friendly and competitive business environment, operating in a well-managed, and innovative financial sector, as well as a resilient economy, are key to enhance the prosperity and growth of businesses, and consequently the economic activity. AmCham has played an important role in this area, and we hope that it will continue to further pave the path towards deepening the American-Albanian business and economic relations, as well as lead the way to intensifying such relations at a regional and international level.

Investments from the United States have increased over the years, while there is still potential for additional cooperation through unexplored opportunities. The government is committed to continue with the reform process, including, but not limited to the digital revolution, the fight against the informal economy and the capital markets reform package to improve the business climate and promote investments. The adoption of payment services law and the legal framework in place for the establishment, regulation and supervision of capital markets have provided the right conditions for the creation of fully operative capital markets, and the provision, regulation and supervision of new financial services, including the flourishing of Fin-Tech companies.

The government is also supporting the formalization process of businesses, promoting efficient business operations through the full implementation of the Law on Electronic Invoice and Monitoring System, otherwise called "Fiscalisation Process". Fortunately, ahead of the pandemic, we initiated the #Digital Revolution in public institutions, with the aim of making services digitally accessible for citizens, removing the documentation to obtain services, and saving precious time for citizens and businesses. Actually over 95% of the services are offered online through the e-Albania platform and the process still continues.

To this end, further improvement of the business environment and consequently the attraction of investments remain the final goals. The government plans to achieve this through strategic planning by identifying the strategic sectors of the economy and attracting FDIs, refining the legal framework, improving the relationship between citizens and the public administration through the Joint-Governance Platform, fighting corruption and the informal economy and creating the digital infrastructure to facilitate all this, in line with the goals already highlighted in the 2030 Agenda of the Albanian Government.

Lastly, following our European integration path and the creation of a Common Regional Market of the Western Balkans region, will take us higher on the investors map. It will provide opportunities for EU and US investors, in a region which promotes growth, and which aims to be part of a wider and more unified region such as the European Union.

It will be my duty, as Minister of Finance and Economy, to carry on the vision of this Government towards economic recovery and more inclusive growth, which provides equal opportunities and welfare for everyone. It will be my pleasure to carry on this duty with the support of partners like the American Chamber of Commerce.

Thank you,

Delina Ibrahimaj

YEARBOOK 2021

Letter from the AmCham
President,
Enio Jaço

Dear Members

A year goes fast and we are quickly approaching our 21st General Assembly. The AmCham Yearbook has become a symbol of our productive networking and engagement with the Chamber. Thank you for being active and contributing throughout the year!

Throughout the year, we worked hard to keep a promise – fight for your rights. Our principles of transparency, fair competition and ever bigger business opportunities, guided our approach to everything we did. We are proud of the partnership we have forged and your distinct role to support our advocacy activities.

Our joint call to action to launch the “Investment Agenda” brought a high official engagement with the Government, Political Parties and Public Institutions. We are determined to turn the 40 recommendations into a legal framework. But in order to continue the engagement, I invite you to continue staying involved.

AmCham places great importance on the private sector’s contribution to the country’s development, including great job opportunities, diversifying production patterns, generating investment and legislative reforms to simplify procedures for establishing standards and encouraging local and foreign investments.

The main message that I would like to convey to you under this commitment is that, the Chamber seeks to make its membership an active partner in the implementation of major economic development projects, supported by a better business enabling environment.

I would like to thank the Board of Directors for the strategic vision, the excellent work of our technical Committees and AmCham’s Executive staff for delivering the hard part of day to day solutions. And thanks to our growing partnership with the U.S. Chamber of Commerce we are advancing better trade opportunities with the U.S. Still, I want to assure that stronger economic and investment opportunities are yet to come.

Thank you and looking forward to more productive and actionable opportunities next year!

Enio Jaço

Letter from the Executive Director, Neritan Mullaj

Dear Members

The publication of this important report coincided with the first days of my new position, and I thought it was a perfect opportunity to use it as my first communication with all of you. Taking on this leadership responsibility, to run the American Chamber of Commerce in Albania, is a big challenge. My business-related experience will help me contribute to the development and growth of the organization, the intensification of its activities in the service of members and the promotion of cooperation with international businesses, especially American ones. Above all, working together to place the spotlight on your needs to operate in an optimal business climate gives me the confidence to be successful.

I want to share with you some thoughts on how, together, we can successfully perform our roles in this organization, to continue to be a market leader in not only the expertise we bring on how business is done and promoted through cooperation, but also in the ideas we give in the drafting and improvement of laws that regulate business activity.

I find the chamber with five committees, in which your voluntary efforts bring added value to the organization. In these committees, through your expertise, you give all members the opportunity to address issues you face with institutions that make and implement laws, procedures and regulatory systems as well as to deal with human resources and new technological innovations in the era of business digitalization. It is important to develop this working relationship, to share knowledge and foster innovation.

As an organization that influences economic development policies, AmCham presents today an Investment Agenda to the community and institutions. When we talk about improving the business climate, we take into account all the factors -- fiscal issues, respect for the law, property rights, copyright, the fight against corruption, equality in the market, etc. But we don't just diagnose the problem. We also make recommendations and work hard through our lobbying processes to implement those recommendations.

The pandemic was a barrier to implementing your business plans.

It taught us that we should always have a backup plan, and that being versatile in business, depending on the circumstances, will be an imperative of the time. It is a pleasure to see that most of you are moving forward with your activity and demonstrating strength and vitality in the face of this global crisis. It is even more of a pleasure to see you continue to be part of the Chamber and have confidence in its role. It is no coincidence that the list of members continues to include the founders and those who built AmCham's strong foundation. Veteran members and new members come together today to work under the American Chamber of Commerce brand with the goal of creating a sustainable and business-friendly environment.

*I look forward to working with all of you.
Sincerely,*

Neritan Mullaj

I would like to thank our members for their trust and contribution during these challenging times. The decline of business climate perception in the last years has raised our awareness that much more needs to be done. The Investment Agenda is a strong tool to address those improvement needs - it reflects our members' views and sets the tone for our engagement with governing bodies, with clear directions and recommendations. I invite all members to actively contribute for making this agenda a reality!

AmCham Press Conference

The President of the American Chamber of Commerce in Albania, Enio Jaço, held the first annual press conference. He informed the public on the work AmCham completed in 2019 as well as the role the organization plays in improving the business climate - currently and in the future. In his remarks, Jaço announced that AmCham successfully grew in 2019, inducting 32 new members - a 17 percent increase from one year to the next. He added that, AmCham represented 222 foreign and domestic businesses with trade ties to the United States. The combined revenue of these businesses was $2.8 billion and represented 22 percent of the Albanian economy. That makes AmCham one of the most powerful business communities in the country.

February 13, 2020

Business Forum with the General Director of Customs

The American Chamber of Commerce in Albania organized its annual meeting with the General Directorate of Customs. The annual meeting with customs is an annual tradition that helps develop constant dialogue between the institution and AmCham members. Members were informed that a large part of the services businesses have had to address with customers directly will now be provided electronically through the e-Albania portal. The Customs were introduced with several concerns that relate directly to customs procedures, starting from the application of reference prices to some imported goods, specifically for the tobacco and telecommunications industries, regardless of the country from where they are being imported -- for example, EU countries or the United States. Another concern raised by AmCham was the lack of access to taxpayers' accounts in the customs database. Businesses complain that they have no account information and cannot reconcile what funds were used in the account. AmCham members at the meeting also spoke to customs administration experts about issues related to reducing bureaucracy and costs relating to online trade.

Leadership Training (Optima Legal & Financial)

Character-Driven leadership has been the theme of the training Am-

Cham organized for its members in collaboration with the McCain Institute for International Leadership based on the Arizona State University program. The training focused on the forms of leadership development and how an individual manages this process. During the training, the participants learned how to focus and manage change, motivational mechanisms, and values that guide the individual toward leadership models. At the end of the training, participants were provided with certificates issued by McCain Institute and Arizona State University. Starting in 2018, McCain Institute has identified 90 new leaders in Albania and trained them in values, ethics and leadership through this unique program.

“Beyond Financial Reporting”
Training session in cooperation with Boga & Associates

The American Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with Boga & Associates organized the “Beyond Financial Reporting” training. The training focused on: Non-financial reports as required by Law “On Accounting and Financial Statements” and additional submissions/reporting to the tax administration accompanying annual financial statements.

March 3, 2020 -
Business Forum with the General Director of Taxes

At the meeting was pointed out that businesses continue to complain about authorities not respecting the public consultation periods, which is something that hurts Albania’s business climate. Frequent changes to laws are of concern not only to local businesses but also foreign investors. Development policies must be coherent and in line with those of the region in order to promote investments in Albania. AmCham representatives had a long list of issues to discuss at the meeting with the head of taxes. There was stated that new approaches have been observed - interpretations based on the same legal provisions applied earlier, but which now have new tax effects in the way transactions are handled. There is the non-recognition of VAT credit for ongoing services when the invoice is issued at the end of the month. VAT reimbursements were again raised as an issue at the meeting. This has been a topic that has always been part of AmCham’s discussion with the General Directorate of Taxes. Although the work of the tax administration has seen improvements on this issue, VAT refunds remain an issue that worries AmCham members due to delayed refunds.

AmCham Board & CEO Forum
Video Call Meeting with the US Ambassador Yuri Kim

In a video call meeting, U.S. Ambassador Yuri Kim discussed COVID-19 challenges with the AmCham Board and a number of CEOs from the member community. The Ambassador highlighted the important role AmCham has played in identifying business issues on the ground and recommending feasible and impactful solutions to the government. She also praised the donations and other charitable actions of all the AmCham member companies that have helped and been close to the Albanian community during this time of crisis. Members and Ambassador Kim spoke directly about the challenges they have had to overcome or are still facing. The meeting also served as a platform to discuss ideas on how to best reopen the economy while mitigating health risks.

“How to resolve bankruptcy disputes outside the court system” Workshop with IFC

Resolving business disputes out of court in bankruptcy cases was the topic of a workshop organized by the American Chamber of Commerce in Albania and IFC. AmCham believed it was important to guide its members through forums and workshops on the new legal and administrative measures put in place to guide business activity during the COVID-19 pandemic crisis. IFC provided guidance to AmCham member businesses through the best experts in the field, including on how to promote alternative dispute resolution methods such as negotiation and mediation between creditors and borrowers.

Online Training by Vodafone Albania on "Business continuity: Adaptation to a new world"

AmCham Albania provided its members with a training opportunity on "Business Continuity, Adaptation to a New World" - a training session led by Vodafone Albania Business Managing Director Agar Perez Valer. The training session was an effort by the AmCham Digital Business Committee members to help other AmCham members and the business community in general to shift their thinking toward a new digital era that will help companies survive in the new post COVID-19 reality. The meeting's focus was dealing in detail on Covid-19's impact on businesses, how they will adapt to a new way of thinking, worker safety with new protocols on social distancing and remote work and the strong trend toward digitalization and automation of work processes.

Online Training by Deloitte Albania on Maternity and Annual Leave

AmCham Albania and its Labor and Ethics Committee organized a training session for AmCham members to explain how to best interpret the Labor Code when dealing with employees' annual leave, maternity leave or adoption procedures - all of which have provisions set in the Code. The training focused on issues such as dealing with maternity leave as well as the similarities and differences when dealing with an adoption process, taking a look at how the calculations are done based on the law. The training session explained in detail how many days off are the right of a woman when she takes maternity leave, and if she wants to take all the allowed days in the Labor Code, which are 365 days in total, or 390 for women who have more than one child. Members found the explanation of how payments are calculated through social security for employment days quite interesting.

LOBBYING

Lobbying continues to be a crucial part of the work of the American Chamber of Commerce in Albania. It is a process the Chamber has consolidated over the years on the principle of serving and protecting the interests of its members, and it is now a key tool used by AmCham to mediate between members and state entities.

Even in health emergency situations, when the pandemic tuned up side down the life of every one but especially of the business community, AmCham found the way to react timely and to lead the conversation.

Lobbying during 2020 continued to focus on the Fiscal Package, the fiscalization process, different sectorial issues, and the policies that effect the business community. AmCham has followed closely on important issues staying in constant contact with state officials through its experts.

Customs and taxes, procedures and laws governing the business life of these two administrations have been the focus of the Taxes and Customs Committee. Meetings with the heads of these institutions have been part of the American Chamber's agenda to serve the members and to respond to the issues raised by them.

The chamber has remained engaged through its representative in the Investment Council on issues such as the law On tax procedures, Draft Law "On fiscal and criminal amnesty for entities that make voluntary declaration of assets" or presented proposals for changes in tax legislation.

The transfer of liability from the owner to the partner or administrator was another instruction to the law on Tax Procedures, to which the American Chamber responded by requesting its review as it went against the basic principle of limited liability. Similarly, the American Chamber has sought to review the principle of VAT application to persons who receive supplied services outside the Republic of Albania in order to influence the drafting of laws and guidelines governing them.

The Chamber has been active in advocating the interest of the business community during the pandemic asking the government to undertake a plan of measures in order to help businesses overcome the situation. Letter sent to 4 Ministers regarding the Plan of Economic Measures undertaken by the Government during the isolation due to the pandemic of Covid-19. The AmCham Board of Directors, the responsible body for setting the chamber's policies, believes that giving importance to lobbying strengthens the unique ties that AmCham has with its members.

Such efforts also assure members that AmCham speaks on behalf of their interests, focusing on sectorial issues and issues affecting the broader business community for a more attractive business climate and a stronger economy for everyone.

AMCHAM COMMITTEES

Committees underwent qualitative change, creating and rebranding committees to reflect the specific topics on which AmCham works.

The Tax and Customs Committee deals with the two specific areas in its name and the related regulatory bodies -- which are very important elements for doing business. The Labor and Ethics Committee focuses its attention on HR issues and has opened up a new framework for AmCham's engagement with the community by promoting business ethics. The Legal, Regulatory & IPR Committee's activity will encompass any issues dealing with legal and regulatory procedures without leaving aside the pressing IPR concerns. The American Chamber of Commerce in Albania has also created the Trade and Investment Committee which will have plenty of work ahead in lobbying to strengthen the business climate, to boost investment incentives and improve the rule of law -- all key elements in attracting investments.

The Tax and Customs Committee

CHAIR: Alketa Uruçi

VICECHAIR: Blerina Daka
Balfin group

"This Committee's aim is to monitor and analyze important changes and developments in tax legislation. It shall seek not only to inform members of changes, mainly related to taxes, but also to contribute with expertise in interaction with government institutions related to the legislative landscape. It shall further engage with Customs authorities to streamline procedures and controls with the goal of reducing red-tape and costs for members. It shall collaborate closely with the other Committees as well." on matters of common interest.

In 2020, the AmCham Tax and Customs Committee continued its dialogue with top officials at the tax and customs administrations, providing information on issues that arise from day-to-day business activities but also holding preliminary discussions on major legislation pieces like the Fiscal Package and Fiscalization. The committee also serves as a resource to members providing training on the latest information from the tax and customs directories.

The Regulatory, Legal & IPR Committee

“The committee’s aim is to continuously monitor and interact with Albania’s regulatory bodies related to their rules and practices. It aims to contribute to having an adequate legal framework, providing information and recommendations to relevant institutions and members. It informs and educates members on legislation-related developments in a timely manner, sending legal information on a quarterly basis. The committee also lobbies, raises awareness and drafts strategies on IPR-related issues. The Committee also covers public procurement processes and works closely with other committees.”
The Regulatory, Legal and IPR Committee had a broad spectrum of activities in 2020, dealing with issues affecting procedures, laws and regulatory systems that govern business activities. The Committee’s work plan helped build stronger institutional relationships between AmCham and government institutions.

The Labor and Ethics Committee

“The Committee aims to address issues related to the management of human resources, compliance with labor regulations and laws, the Labor Code, HSE, Code of Ethics and anti-corruption practices. The Committee actively engages on issues related to Business Ethics and cooperates with many stakeholders in order to address issues related to HR management. This Committee will also work closely with other AmCham Committees.” During 2020, the Labor & Ethics committee’s main focus was on the importance of Labor relations and education to businesses on business ethics. The Committee continued the tradition of institutional collaboration, related of laws that regulate the labor market. In addition, it provided information to members on how to work remotely and to adopt digitally their business. How HR department react in order to support the company to survive during pandemic, have been key issues treated by this committee during 2020.

Investment & Trade Committee

“Enhancing investments and trade are the key goals of AmCham. Thus, this Committee focuses on the facilitation of trade and investments, be they domestic or FDIs, and the improvement of the overall business climate. It contributes to and monitors the AmCham Business Survey. The Committee also aims to work towards identifying the competitive advantages of Albania (e.g. in the form of a study). Finally, the Committee shall seek to engage with other AmChams in the region to build a dialogue and a joint approach on cross border trade and all the elements related to it. This Committee looks into the possibilities of cooperating with the Albanian Diaspora in the U.S. It collaborates closely with the other Committees as well”.
The Trade and Investment Committee focused its work in 2020 on attracting foreign investments to Albania, forwarding to the relevant authorities the opinions and suggestions of AmCham members with the aim of improving the basic parameters of the country’s business climate, which ultimately will help attract foreign investments.

The Digital Business Committee

The mission of this Committee is to help members embrace the opportunity of the digital economy, to help leaders across private and public sector to explore and build the digital future. This committee would help to increase awareness and build a confidential environment where business executives can learn about its benefits, on how to implement the right strategies for the future and share best practices or their experiences with the other less advanced members. The Digital Business Committee would help companies develop a digital agenda for their own business, in order to capitalize on the opportunities of digitization and minimize the dangers of competition. The Digital Business Committee is the most recently established Committee of the American Chamber of Commerce in Albania. The Committee’s work in 2020 included an extensive analysis and workshops on how to help business become digital in order to survive the pandemic. Such elements that help promote digital commerce like, the deployment of e-signature, the training of businesses on technological innovations, has been key focus of this Committee during 2020.

PUBLICATIONS

The Advantage Magazine

The Advantage magazine is a periodical publication of the American Chamber of Commerce in Albania. Its electronic and print versions are distributed to members, civil society, state and diplomatic institutions as well as international organizations in the country. During the years, the magazine's content approach and design were enhanced, offering more opportunities through interviews, economic updates and member news to promote the community. The Advantage magazine now has a 16-year tradition as a lead publication. Member News is an important section that gives the proper prominence to information coming from members, distributing it to the entire membership base. It also serves as a way of networking in the member and business community more broadly. The magazine also publishes articles written by AmCham experts, providing in-depth analysis of legal changes affecting the fiscal and tax systems. Foreign Business in Albania and Members to Members Discount are the most recent sections to be added to the magazine. These sections help members strengthen the role in AmCham through.

The AmCham Newsletter

Newsletter is one of the most recent publications of the American Chamber of Commerce. During the pandemic to keep AmCham members up to date on legal changes, business organization protocols, and Chamber activity, the Newsletter has also served to promote AmCham policies as well. In this new media space, members have had their dedicated space not only to the news they want to share within the AmCham community, but also to bring an economic opinion and share their expertise with others. In the AmCham Newsletter they have found their space and the latest economic developments in the country expressed in the change of legislation or regulatory systems that serve the business activity.

The YearBook

The Year Book is one of the most prestigious publications of the American Chamber of Commerce in Albania, and it has been undergoing continuous changes, reflecting the changes taking place within the organization. Through the Year Book, AmCham presents its work to the entire business community as well as government and international institutions. The Year Book is presented at the AmCham General Assembly. It contains all the activities the Chamber has carried out during the year. This publication helps members become more familiar with every aspect of the Chamber's work throughout the year. It also helps members present their data to a wide audience at home and abroad. The year's entire suite of activities is publicized through the Year Book, including the official meetings that AmCham leaders conduct as part of lobbying efforts as well as annual networking events. Most importantly, the Year Book serves as a platform to properly present AmCham members to the public at large.

AmCham Business Index

The AmCham Business Index is one of the Chamber's most important publications as it reflects the opinion of its members on the business climate in the country and the level of ease with which businesses operate in the Albanian market. The AmCham Business Index provides a clear overview of the perception of our members of issues faced by them related to the country's economy, ranging from the most important factors of the business climate such as the level of corruption and informality to government policies affecting taxes and the businesses relationship with the tax authorities. The report's findings are very important to AmCham. Its results help us guide and design the work plan and lobbying processes we should focus for the year. In its seventh edition, AmCham Business Index noted that the business climate has seen a slight improvement of 0.71 percent, noting a more positive perception of business climate among members, while reflecting a deterioration of the Business Index in several areas. These included monopoly and unfair competition, internal political climate, overall tax levels and government bureaucracy.

Notes for AmCham Financial Report for 2020

The American Chamber of Commerce in Albania (AmCham) acquires its income through membership fees, services offered to members and sponsorships from local or international organizations, as approved by the Board. In accordance with its by-laws, AmCham does not accept any financial aid from any government or subdivision thereof, or from any other source that would tend to prevent the Chamber from having freedom of action. This is how the Chamber preserves its independence and can best serve its members.

The Chamber's expenses comprise of administrative costs incurred from regular operations, costs of organizing and conducting activities, as well as costs for producing its publications. AmCham is committed to administer the funds with which it is entrusted by its members with great accountability. AmCham strives to maintain a stable financial situation by keeping expenses lower than income and trying to close the year in a financial position that is comparable to the previous year. In 2018, as per the Board decision to streamline memberships according to the calendar year, AmCham member companies paid the pro-rated fee for the remainder of 2018 and that's why the closing position at the end of the year was different from the previous years. For more information, the next page shows the Report of Income and Expenses for the last three years (2018- 2020)
